

Submission Call for Off Script

Stories from the Heart of Medicine

The world of medicine needs your story. Tell about a surprising diagnosis, clinical courage, an amazing recovery, or an (un)dignified death. Or something else. Any story that touches on some aspect of health, illness, disability, or caregiving is welcome.

Your tale can be true, fictional, or a mix of both. Pack your story with engaging characters, realistic dialogue, and vivid scenes. Give us tension and dramatic action! The setting could be a clinic, hospital, or somewhere far from health care. Please submit your story (600 – 900 words) by June 1.

If selected, we'll invite you to read your story during a free one-hour storytelling event at Inprint House on June 27th at 5:30 PM. Anyone can attend, and anyone can submit a story. If yours is accepted, you will join fellow storytellers on June 15th for a workshop led by an experienced writer.

Baylor
College of Medicine

HUMANITIES
EXPRESSION
& ARTS LAB

OFFICE OF THE SENIOR DEAN

Questions? Email andrew.childress@bcm.edu.