Baylor College of Medicine Baccalaureate/Medical Doctorate Program

The Department of Biological Sciences at St. Mary's University has partnered with Baylor College of Medicine (BCM) to offer the Baccalaureate Medical Doctorate Program for students from racial or ethnic groups underrepresented in medicine. The program allows St. Mary's students to gain early acceptance to BCM during their second year of undergraduate study.

Students complete a four-year degree plan at St. Mary's. If they meet GPA and other requirements, students are provisionally accepted into Baylor College of Medicine.

Learn more about BCM at www.bcm.edu.

ELIGIBILITY

The program is intended for St. Mary's University students who are focused on pursuing medicine. Students interested in the program will undergo a review process during the fall of their second year to determine eligibility to apply for the program.

To be eligible, students must:

- Identify as Hispanic, African American, or Native American and be a U.S. citizen or permanent U.S. resident alien
- Have completed at least 30 credit hours during their first year of study at St. Mary's (No more than three hours of Advanced Placement credit may be applied to the 30-hour requirement.)
- Be in their second year of undergraduate study at St. Mary's
- Earn at least a 3.5 GPA in Biology, Chemistry, Physics and Math (BCPM) courses and a 3.5 overall GPA at St. Mary's
- Submit SAT and/or ACT score reports and official transcripts from all undergraduate universities attended
- Successfully complete an interview with BCM
