

Baylor College of Medicine- School of Medicine Virtual Site Visit- September 27-29, 2021

BCM's School of Medicine will host a virtual site visit with the Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) from September 27-29, 2021. The survey team will review the school's accreditation survey package as well as virtually meet with students, residents, staff, and faculty as part of the process. At the conclusion of the survey visit, the survey team will submit a final report to the LCME Committee. The LCME will determine the accreditation status of the program and provide notification of status in Spring 2022.

LCME ACCREDITATION SITE VISIT TEAM

Stephen Ray Mitchell, M.D., Ph.D.

Dean Emeritus
Professor of Pediatrics and Medicine
Georgetown University School of Medicine

A Dreyfuss National Merit Scholar at the University of North Carolina, Dr. Mitchell completed training and certification in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics at the North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill and received his MBA from Georgetown University. Dr. Mitchell has been Dean at Georgetown University (2000-Present) where he is responsible for the medical school administration, curriculum, and student affairs. He opened and continues to be Director of the Georgetown University Hospital Childhood Arthritis Center. He has been honored numerous times for his teaching excellence, including multiple "Golden Apples" for medical student education and the Kaiser Permanente Award from the faculty for Outstanding Clinical Teacher in the Medical Center. Dr. Mitchell served as LCME Chair from 2018-2019, member 2013-201 and site visitor 2015-present.

Tina Thompson, Ph.D.

Sr. Associate Dean of Academic Affairs
Central Michigan University College of Medicine

Dr. Thompson is a professor and senior associate dean for academic affairs at Central Michigan University College of Medicine. A neuroscientist by training, she transitioned from a funded investigator to a full-time medical educator serving as the neuroscience discipline head and the neurology course director at Mercer. She is passionate about medical education with an academic interest in assessment, accreditation, and continuous quality improvement. She has served on numerous USMLE Step committees since 2011. Nationally, she is a member of the AAMC Senior Medical Education Leaders Group. Dr. Thompson is active in medical school accreditation serving as a field secretary for the LCME and conducting multiple medical school accreditation surveys annually. In addition, she serves as the LCME faculty accreditation lead for CMED. Dr. Thompson received her Ph.D. in Chemistry/Neurochemistry from Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, Texas.

James Graham, M.D.

Professor of Pediatrics
Executive Associate Dean for Academic Affairs
University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences College of Medicine

Graham graduated from the University of Arkansas College of Medicine and remained at UAMS for his general pediatrics residency. Dr. Graham has extensive experience in medical education leadership. He served as associate dean for undergraduate medical education from 2010 until assuming his current post as executive associate dean in February 2020. Dr. Graham has received many awards for teaching including the college's student selected Gold Sash and Red Sash awards, and he was three- time winner of the Educator of the Year award in the Department of Pediatrics.

Jason Booza, Ph.D.

Assistant Dean of Continuous Quality Improvement and Compliance
Wayne State University School of Medicine

Jason Booza, Ph.D., is the assistant dean of Continuous Quality Improvement and Compliance for the Wayne State University School of Medicine. He leads the Office of Assessment, Accreditation and Continuous Quality Improvement, which is responsible for the School of Medicine's Liaison Committee on Medical Education accreditation process. The office also monitors the quality of programs within undergraduate medical education programs and facilitate quality improvement projects.

An assistant professor of Family Medicine and Public Health Sciences, Dr. Booza has taught courses in the Master of Public Health program and for WSU's Department of Urban Studies and Planning. He lectures on applied research methodology across the university and is course director for the School of Medicine's Medical Education and Evaluation co-curricular program.

He received his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice in 1999 from the University of Detroit Mercy, his master's degree in Sociology in 2003 from Wayne State University and his doctoral degree in Political Science in 2009, also from WSU.

Jessica Servey, M.D., M.H.P.E.

Associate Dean for Faculty Development
Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences, F. Edward Hebert
School of Medicine

Dr. Servey received her MD from Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences and MHPE from University of Michigan. She is currently Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs and Faculty Development at Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences. Dr. Servey's research interests are Medical Education, Women's and Children's Health.